Cotton.-An exchange remarks that few persons think how much money even a short crop of cotton will yield the South this year at present prices. Estimating the crop at 1,500,000 bales, which is about what it will be, at $130 per bale, about a fair average price the crop will produce $195,000,000 and yield the Government a revenue of $22,000,000. This sum diffused among all branches of trade and business, will greatly relieve the present dull, hard and stringent times. The cotton money will soon begin to circulate, we hope.

TRADE DETWEEN ENGLAND AND NORTH AMBRICA. Sir Stafford Northcote, who presided at the Liverpool banquet in honor of the layers of the Atlantic cable, gives the following important sta-

The annual value of our imports and experts to North America, includ-ing the United States and the British colonists, amount to something like £100,000,000 ($500,000,000) per an of passage between this country and America at about fourteen days, we may say that something like £4,000, 000 ($20,000,000) worth of property are, at any given moment, afloat between Great Britain and America. On an average, 900,000,000 cwt. of wheat or wheat flour is imported into this country from America, or about 35, per cent. of the whole of the wheat and wheat flour brought from abroad, while importations of raw cotton-used formerly to be 80 per cent., and are now something short of 20 per cent.

Wno Can Answer IT .- The following novel question has been submitted to us for publication: Suppose a man and a girl were to get married; the man thirty-five years old and the girl ive years; this makes the man seven times as old as the girl, and they live together until the girl is ten years old, this makes the man forty years old, and four times as old as the girl, and please them, he is determined to their partonage. if they still live together watil she is lifteen, the man would be forty-live; and if they still live on till the girl is thirty years old, this makes the man sixty, only twice as old, and so on. Now, how long would they have to live to make the girl as old as the man, at the same rate of reasoning? [Atlanta Intelligencer.
